

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin.

THAT the first direct east-ern mail route through Circleville was completed in May, 1818. It consisted of a weekly trip by horseback from Lancaster through this city to Washington C. H. Via horseman, the mail left Lancaster early every Friday morning and arrived at Washington late the same afternoon. Previous to this time the only mails visiting Circleville were those received semi-weekly on the Columbus-Chillicothe route.

That Col. C. E. Groce, S. J. St. Louis, was the first Pickaway-co Republican to be placed on a G. O. P. state member. He was nominated as a member of the Board of Public Works at the Republican State Convention in June, 1891.

That Amstad Carder, a New Holland tavern-keeper, was the first Pickaway-county convict on charges of violating Ohio's famous liquor law of 1854. The act provided against "the evils resulting from the sale of intoxicating liquors" by ordering that all places where the liquors were sold "to be shut up and abated as public nuisances." Violators were also to serve a jail sentence and pay a fine. Carder was sentenced to serve 10 days in jail and pay a fine of $40 by Judge Bierce of Pickaway-co probate court.

That the first official action relative to the erection of a public school in Circleville was taken at a mass meeting March, 1827. By a vote of 1 to 1, the then 755 residents of the town decided to assess a tax for the purpose of erecting the school building. This was the first public school in the city and with the exception of the Academy, which was the property of an incorporated association, the only school until the erection of a Union School in 1851. The building resolved upon in 1827 was built adjoining the Academy in the northeastern portion of the town, on the triangular reservation, between the circular and square portion of the old town plat.

That the following marriage license appeared in The Herald of Sept. 14, 1826—"In Walnut-twp on the 14th inst., Ferguson Fleming, Esq., united in marriage Mr. Ashland CORN and Miss Almira WHEAT. Both are from Walnut-twp." Commenting on the hymeneal announcement, The Herald had the following to say: "Such an announcement denotes that our good young people are not wholly unmindful of the propagation of the seruals."

That on Sept. 24, 1819, a wagon, well guarded, passed through Circleville containing $100,000. It was enroute to Columbus from the U. S. Bank at Chillicothe and was to be deposited in the state treasury. This was money seized by a law of the state which imposed a tax of $50,000 on each of the branches of the U. S. banks in Ohio.

THAT in June, 1827, Circleville was honored with the visits of several distinguished national figures of the time. They included Hon. John McLean, postmaster general, who was enroute to his home in Warren-co. Admiral Reeside, the great mail contractor of the day, travelled with Mr. McLean. About one week later, Henry Clay, secretary of state, paid the town a visit. He was on his return to Washington from a visit in Kentucky. He was accompanied by William B. Roche of New York, secretary to the Mission to the American Congress at Panama. And several days later Jeremiah Morrow, delegate from Ohio to the National Convention of Agriculture and Manufacturing. The meeting was held at Harrisburg to devise measures for the encouragement of domestic manufactures.

ASK STATE TO CONTROL MILK

White's Committee To Make Report Asking Dictatorship By Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—State dictatorship of Ohio's milk industry will be sought during the present session of the 90th general assembly by legislators acting as spokesmen for Governor George White's milk investigating committee.

Plans were made today for introducing bills which would create a state licensing board with power to virtually control milk prices. Action followed the drawing up of a six-point program by the committee.

Prices would be controlled by the board through the proposal that it be permitted to issue and revoke licenses according to the degree of good faith shown by distributors in following out a retail price schedule certified to the board.

The six conclusions reached by the committee, headed by State Representative Clarence H. Burk (D) of New London, were as follows:

1. That milk distributors should be licensed as much as real estate and insurance salesmen; 2. That distributors should give a certificate of sanitation; 3. That they should be required to furnish financial responsibility to prevent losses to farmers; 4. That they should file a price schedule to prevent discrimination; 5. That the granting of licenses should be contingent upon the good faith of the applicant in his price schedule; 6. That the granting of license be contingent upon the price paid the farmer by the distributor.

The Church Invites You

THE FUNCTION OF THE CHURCH

The primary function of the church is to supply an incentive to worship and to furnish an atmosphere for worship. If one cannot worship in church, the church may be at fault, or the man be at fault. If the church is at fault, it will eventually perish unless it remedies the condition. If man is at fault, he will dry up and become a spiritual mummy, unless he changes himself.

Intelligent worship is the most remarkable achievement of which a human being is capable. Ignorant worship is better than intelligent non-worship. Why not accept the invitation and Come to Church Next Sunday?

JESUS CHOOSES THE TWELVE

Mark 3:7-35

GOLDEN TEXT—Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it to you. John 15:16

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Choosing Special Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Taken Into Partnership.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Our Call to Friendship and Service.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Discipleship and Its Meaning.

1. The Divine Servant Ministering by the Sea (vv. 7-12).

1. Why he withdrew (v. 6) It was because of the murderous plotting of the Pharisees against his life. Their opposition began when Jesus claimed to have power on earth to forgive sins (2:10); grew in intensity when he mingled with publicans and sinners (2:16); was fanned into a violent flame when he set at naught their false interpretations of the Sabbath law (2:23-28).

2. To whom he ministered (vv. 7, 8). It was to a great multitude representing a wide stretch of territory.

3. The results (vv. 9-12).

a. The disciples prepared a small ship (v. 9) So great was the pressure of the thronging multitudes that he commanded the disciples to provide the ship so that he might be saved from them.

b. Unclean spirits fell down before him (vv. 11, 12). They not only bowed before him, but confessed him as the very Son of God. This testimony he refused, doubtless, for two reasons:

(1) The time was not ripe to proclaim him publicly as the Son of God.

(2) They were not the beings to make him known. Jesus consistently refused the testimony of those who were not in moral accord with him.

11. The Divine Servant Calling Associates (vv. 13-19).

In this way he made provision for the carrying forward of his work after he was gone. Before choosing the twelve he spent a whole night in prayer (v. 13). (cf. Luke 6:12).

From among his disciples he chose twelve whom he ordained for a two fold purpose:

1. "That they might be with him" (v. 14). Fellowship with the Lord is not only the highest privilege of the disciples, but it is an indispensable qualification for witness.

It is useful to be with him to catch his spirit.

2. "That he might send them forth to preach" (v. 14). To proclaim the good news of salvation was the supreme mission of the disciples. Concerning those who were to be the messengers of Jesus Christ, note:

a. Twelve were ordained (v. 14). This was the beginning of the process by which the Twelve God was to make manifest his grace to the whole world. The number twelve is the product of the heavenly three and the earthly four, thus indicating the purpose of the Twelve God to reveal himself unto the four quarters of the earth.

b. Their characteristics (vv. 17-19).

(1) They were from the middle ranks of society, the common walks of life.

(2) Men of average ability. Christ did not go to the schools for his apostles and yet he chose men of mental grasp and efficiency.

(3) Men of diverse temperamental gifts. The grouping of the apostles shows men of impulse and leadership, of the reflective and inquisitive type, and men of practical business abilities.

TIGERS LOSE TO GRANDVIEW 5

SECOND PERIOD BLANK CAUSES 20 TO 15 LOSS

Glass and Wells Stopped By Tigers But Thackara Does Heavy Work.

BY REYNOLD GREENE.

Despite the fact that they were on the short end of the 20 to 15 score the Circleville Tigers put up a whale of a battle Friday night in the Grandview gym before losing to the Bobcat five.

Using a man for man defensive style of play the Tigers repeatedly stopped the scoring plays of the Grandview five.

Much credit is due Johnny Porter for his excellent work in effectively stopping Paul Glass, the scoring ace of the Bobcat five and holding him to six points. Bill Heggie, too, played his best defensive game of the year by stopping Bill Wells, another hot player for the league leaders.

It was evident from the start of the game that there was going to be a close decision by the manner in which the local team held Grandview to five counters in the first canto while they were scoring eight.

The second session proved to be the nemesis of the Tigers as they were held scoreless while the Bobcat forward, Thackara, took a hot spell to ring up the Grandview score to 11 points.

Just before the close of the half, however, Steele and Jenkins entered the game relieving Leasure and Fricke.

The third session ended 17 to 12 for the Grandview five.

During the final session long shots and desperate scoring plays came into use to make the game really an exciting one, despite the fact that the Grandview lead was too much for the Tigers to overcome.

THACKARA HIGH

Thackara led the Grandview scoring with a total of 20 counters while Bill Heggie led the locals scoring with seven points.

Seddon and Rosenthal, Ohio State University, officiated the contest.

Pickaway, Walnut Divide

Former's Boys Win By Four Point Edge, Latter's Girls By Two.

BOTH GAMES FAST

Wayne Brown's Shooting Features Evening.

Two thrilling basketball games were handed county court fans at Pickaway-twp school Friday evening when the teams of that institution and Walnut-twp divided a double-header. Pickaway boys put on a garrison finish to eke out a 32-28 margin over the Walnut team while the up-county girls slipped through to a 17-15 victory.

Thrilling is a mild word compared to the type of exhibitions put on by the contestants.

The boys' game was the feature inasmuch as the Pickaway boys came from far behind to win. Coach Wib Griffith's team played its best basketball of the year to hold a 15-4 margin at the end of the first period and 21-10 at the half but Coach E. C. Carpenter, of Pickaway, told his boys to turn on the heat and they did that little thing in a big way.

ESTELL GAINS EDGE

Pickaway kept creeping up in the third period until just before the whistle blew ending three-fourths of the game Dano Estell boosted a follow shot to put his team in the lead 25-23 for the first time in the evening.

The fourth session was hotter fought than the others with Wayne Brown, crack Walnut guard, trying to keep his team in the game with two goals and a free throw but other members of the team were unable to score. Dusty Rhoades, Pickaway captain, tallied two action shots. Wilson tallied a foul and Estell scored another goal to give Pickaway the edge.

BROWN IS STAR

Wayne Brown scored 19 of his team's points with Wilson, Rhoades and Estell leading Pickaway.

Twelve personal fouls were called on Pickaway and eight on Walnut.

The girls' game was one of the cleanest of the year despite the fact that it was so hotly contested.

Walnut was never more than three points ahead of the Pickaway girls and each basket scored by either team was the result of a tough scramble. Field goals scored by the teams were even, five each, but DeLong, Walnut forward, scored seven free throws to five for Helen Rhoades of Pickaway. DeLong missed four and Rhoades five.

The latter incidentally was the star of her team scoring all eight points her team had in the first half. Brown scored two field goals in the last half while the defensive play of Smith, guard, featured for her team. D. Updyke led her team's offensive with four field goals.

LAST OF SEASON

Walnut-twp, with its regular schedule finished, has lost only one girls' game, that to Jackson-twp.

Bob Shea, Ohio Wesleyan, refereed the boys' game and Schroth, Muskingum, worked the girls' game. The work of the latter was highly commended by school officials.

COCHRAN IS CHAMP.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4. — Walker Cochran, San Francisco bulking expert today was acclaimed world three-cushion billiard champion.

By defeating Johnny Lavton of Sedalia, Mo., 30 to 34 last night in the final game of the tournament, Cochran became the first balking player to take the three-cushion title. The final match went 38 innings.

The new champion's tournament record was eight victories and one defeat.

GIRLS DRUBBED BY BOBCAT "6"

Score Only Five Points As Grandview Runs Up 21 Counters, Friday.

The high school girls' team, Friday night, learned the meaning of revenge when it took a 21 to 5 lacing from the Grandview sextet in a preliminary game.

From the opening whistle it was apparent that the local girls were no match for the Grandview team on that floor for they played a three division rule game and that was too much for the locals to get onto all at one time.

Then, too, the Grandview girls were not cramped in their plays as they were on the local floor last week when the local sextet took them into camp.

The first quarter started off with a bang, the bang coming from the bank board immediately after the tip off and Davis of the Grandview team in three plays had a six point lead.

The second quarter saw the locals doing their first scoring and that was a field goal by Jackson who also scored a foul shot. At the end of the half the score was Grandview 15, Circleville 3.

The next half was nothing better with Grandview constantly breaking up the passing attack of the local girls and turning it into points for themselves and as a result in the next two sessions Circleville scored but two lone points and those on charity tosses.

Bump From a Fall May Cause Bone Infection

"Osteomyelitis" the Disease Is Called, and It Is One Reason Why Injuries, No Matter How Slight, Should Not Be Neglected

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERY PARENT knows that the growing and active child is apt to catch or injure himself while at play. A simple injury due to a fall may appear to be of no consequence, yet it may result in a serious disease, such as "osteomyelitis."

Osteomyelitis is an inflammation of bone tissue, caused by infection with pus producing germs. Most cases of osteomyelitis can be traced to a germ called the "staphylococcus." This is an organism commonly found in infected cuts, abscesses, nasal mucus, teeth, and other organs of the body.

The injury received in a fall or blow prepares the way for an infection of the bone. The germs are carried by the blood stream from a diseased part of the body to the recently injured part. They are deposited at the point of injury where the resistance is low. This is a common experience, but of course, not all cases of osteomyelitis can be traced to an injury.

Osteomyelitis may be caused by the direct entrance of the germs through a wound. This happens in a severe accident, compound fracture, amputation or other condition where bone is exposed. It may follow a severe attack of tonsillitis or sinusitis, certain forms of scarlet fever, measles and pneumonia.

The disease comes on suddenly with marked chills and high fever. The affected bone is painful and there is acute tenderness near the joint. Children who complain of pain or discomfort in a leg or arm should be carefully examined by a physician. This is particularly important if the child has recently fallen or scratched himself.

In what I have said, I do not mean to infer that all children who fall and complain of pain will have osteomy-

CANZONERI K. O.'S TOWNSEND IN FIRST

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Boxing, the bloated, old punching bag of professional sports, blocked another with its bosom last night as Billy Townsend, of Vancouver, froomed under a flurry of punches from Tony Canzoneri, the lightweight champion, and was counted out in 1 minute and 5 seconds, while groveling feebly near his own corner.

At that moment, as a matter of fact, the only friendly faces in the place were in his own corner. Some of the 10,000 house were babbling happily over Canzoneri's hitting; the rest were hooting both fighters with impartial vigor. They seemed to think all was as it should be.

Ugly rumors, in fact, spread quickly through the lobby after the fight. But although these were persistent, they were neither justified by the evidence nor substantiated by the facts. For one thing, both of the young men bear unblemished reputations. For another, Canzoneri was so pronounced a favorite as to make all idle talk of gambling coups seem a little preposterous.

JACKSON GIRLS LOSE ANOTHER

Jackson-twp girls took a surprise defeat Friday evening at the hands of Scioto-twp on the Jackson court. The score was 13-9.

This is the second Jackson loss in two weeks, Ashville having carried off the gonfalon last week.

Jackson boys, led by Festus Walters, scored an easy 33 to 13 victory over Scioto.

Darby-twp took two games from Perry-twp at Atlanta, the boys winning by a 25 to 23 score in a thriller and the girls by 14 to 11 in a good game.

Ashville continued hitting on all five cylinders Friday evening whipping Williamsport, the boys by a 51-9 score and the girls by a 24 to 9 score.

Muhlenberg-twp whipped Washington-twp 24-17 while the Washington reserves were winning 19 to 15.

The score of the Monroe-Salt-creek game could not be learned.

Swan Song of the Ducks

FOR generations "lame duck" congressmen have been proving themselves a general nuisance.

Now the nation can start enumerating their virtues and benevolences, if any, for the "lame duck" congress is history.

The glaciality with which 35 states ratified the twentieth amendment to the constitution was no tribute to the "lame duck" legislators, who asked no more and deserved less.

No longer will repudiated national legislators participate in the government, and presidents-elect will not have to wait four months after election before giving their pledged policies to the people.

Had the twentieth amendment been in force last year, the new congress and president elected last November would now be in office, and the present filibuster-ridden and hopelessly disorganized session of congress would never have been.

Senator Norris, to whom is due most of the credit for this important reform, best epitomizes the significance of the new amendment.

The enactment of this amendment is a great step toward placing the control of our government in the hands of the chosen representatives of the American people," he says.

Advancing the date of governmental succession may give birth to new evils, but at least it will do away with the troublesome and futile short session of congress.

You can't argue with a man who won't argue back, or with a woman who does.

No Hope

PHILADELPHIA is the city of brotherly love and yet its medical men would deny a brother a little hope although the brother's need is great and the needy brother many.

Hope springs eternal in the bald head, and forever shall in spite of the discouragements held forth by spokesmen from the Philadelphia County Medical Society.

These professional "wet blankets" contend that 50 per cent of all men start losing hair before they are 30 years old, and nothing that 50 out of every hundred can do will conserve or restore the falling hairs. Hair grows in a healthy scalp, but how to make scalps healthy the doctors confess they know not.

In a moment of iconoclasm they break a few popular superstitions. They don't believe that singing or frequent cutting stops falling hair, nor do they believe in hair restorers, nor in shaving the head after a fever to save the hair. And to give the grandmothers the shock of their lives, they aver that removing the so-called milk crust from infant scalps does not affect the hair.

What value is there in pupil participation in the church school?

Pupil participation in class activities leads naturally to sharing in the responsibilities and duties of the administration of the whole church school. Members of the school should be led to take an increasingly greater responsibility in administration duties. Many problems which the average church school faces, such as tardiness, irregularity, lack of interest, can best be solved by seeking the assistance of the pupils, as well as of the teachers, and giving them opportunity for frank discussion of important problems of the school. In fact such difficulties usually have their roots in the fact that the boys and girls themselves are seldom consulted in regard to plans.

The responsibilities which members of the school may share with officers and teachers include all phases of the school's life. True pupil participation consists not only in planning and executing the details of administration. The school which seeks the growth of Christ-like personality will increasingly provide opportunities for its boys and girls to plan major as well as minor activities.

Man can only learn to rise from the consideration of that which he cannot surmount.

What value is there in pupil participation in the church school?

Pupil participation in class activities leads naturally to sharing in the responsibilities and duties of the administration of the whole church school. Members of the school should be led to take an increasingly greater responsibility in administration duties. Many problems which the average church school faces, such as tardiness, irregularity, lack of interest, can best be solved by seeking the assistance of the pupils, as well as of the teachers, and giving them opportunity for frank discussion of important problems of the school. In fact such difficulties usually have their roots in the fact that the boys and girls themselves are seldom consulted in regard to plans.

WHUDDLE!

By FRANCIS WALLACE
A GREAT FOOTBALL ROMANCE

CHAPTER XLIV

Everybody seemed to be in the hotel lobby. John Wynne busy explaining the game to Pidge's father and Barb's dad. Ted smiled; it was the first football game his father had ever seen but that wouldn't hinder a man who had long been an expert on the subject. Pidge's mother was being charmingly solicitous about Mrs. Wynne.

Barb and Phyllis still dissecting each other after an afternoon of such engrossing sport.

"Ah," said Phyllis, "the heroes approach."

Ted Wynne looked into many eyes that evening; eyes which had once seen in him only a steel mill boy but now recognized the all-American quarterback.

Phyllis was enticing; Barb's amazed, faintly worried.

Ted took a keen, satisfying delight in parading his parents about the hotel, introducing them to the camp followers of glory.

It was their night. If the all-American quarterback was a show here were the authors; they would take back to the Valley a brilliant memory to light their fading days. His mother was fluttering and amazed.

John Wynne was awed by nobody. Later, when the women had gone to bed and the young ones had gone to dance, he went upstairs with Andrew Pidgein and told him all about his mill. And Andrew Pidgein listened.

Then they talked about their boys—and John Wynne admitted that there were now two great men in the Wynne family.

Production slowed to almost zero at the Young Men's Study Association in April. The firm was getting ready to close its doors. James Pidgein, Esq., secretary, was chuckling over a questionnaire sent out by the Senior Ball Committee.

"You're putting in a lot of time on that," Ted commented.

"I've got five questions answered. Take a look."

Ted took a look:

Q. Can you suggest any entertainment? A. An intercollegiate debate and a trip through Maypole Hall.

Q. State your preference in apparel. A. Rubber boots, ship guards, overalls and slickers.

Q. Do you anticipate any difficulty in acquiring formal attire? A. I have been educated at New Dominion and have never adhered to the honor system in the past.

Q. What date would you suggest and why? A. Saturday—my girl gets paid then.

Q. Where should the ball be held? A. Between the thumb and forefinger.

"Hot stuff, ain't it?"

"Hot stuff, Pidge. But I've got something serious to talk about."

"Shoot. Serious stuff is my dish."

"Well, I've heard from your father and I can have that job in New York; and I'll need an assistant."

"Sure. New York's a hot town. I know you'd have to take me along with you to put you over."

"Yeah."

"Yeah. I was the guy who put you over for all-American. I wouldn't have done it but I wanted to get even with Stone."

"Explain that one."

"Well, you were running pretty close up to that Army game. You happened to have a pretty good day, then that pass came along. I figured if Stone got it it might put him over so I just thought I'd take it. You never thanked me for that."

"Yeah? And you never thanked me for laying on Cagle."

"Who you dragging to the ball anyway?"

"Don't know yet."

Senior Ball Week.

Four days of contentment with the sweetest girl. . . . Quiet little dances in the country. . . . Dances after Glee Club. . . . Tea dances. . . . Track meet. . . . Baseball. . . . Showing her the art gallery with Dr. Cavanaugh, his favorite professor.

Sealing to the grotto after dark; where candlelight flickered on the lake.

Walking among the trees, fingers intertwined, among the trees which stood there when Indians roamed the campus. . . . Walking around the lake shore at sundown—when the buildings of Weyrick stood against the red sky like Bagdad minarets.

The bush of the log chapel at twilight. . . . It had been the first college eighty years ago. . . . The spot in the forest where he had polished up "Man of Steel" among trees and twigs and grass that never died. . . . Showing her the trees that leaned against the sky—brushes left there by the Artist who had painted the clouds.

The gym with its smelly rooms and vacant basketball courts; the new stadium, monument to Barney and his boys; dinner at Barney's home; a happy home.

Driving in the moonlight; walking through the stars; the dome, the spires and the tall brick stack, sentinels of dawn.

Then the ball; brilliant, fervid, romantic, fantastic—each boy with the girl he loved best. Each sweetheart the fairest; each boy the proudest.

And all of it a setting for Rosalie—a different Rosalie than he had known; soft, quiet, wonderful with a pliant sweetness he had never imagined; beautiful as he had never thought that even Rosalie might be beautiful, a spiritual beauty.

On the last morning a farewell drive in the hour before dawn; Pidge driving quietly, a blonde head nesting on his shoulder.

Peace. Rosalie's little nose hunting the softest spot on his lapel; her eyes closed; like a baby smiling in her sleep. He touched his lips gently to the loose strands of her hair.

"Happy, honey?"

"Tired as that pale old moon," she breathed. "But I don't want it to end. Baby, I don't want it to."

"It's never going to end, Rosie."

She moved closer. "If you know what it means to be here, Ted, so close to you. There's never been anyone else; and so often you were far away."

"I couldn't see, honey."

"I've been so proud of you here. They like you so much—and respect you. You're so sure of yourself now. You are a Man of Steel, Ted. You thought you were leaving the mill but you were just going in."

"I've thought of that, Rosalie, since the beginning. I've been knowing about it in the converter, having the impurities blown out; but that doesn't make steel, honey. A stuff called manganese must be added, and I'm a man of steel now you've made me that. You supplied the manganese."

"What is it, Ted?"

THE END

SAVED BY TOY

NEW YORK—Two girls, Marie and Ethel Antonia, were saved from death by gas when water overrunning a child's bathtub seeped through the floor, bringing neighbors to investigate. The girls were found unconscious with three jets of a gas stove open.

BLAMES BRIDGE

QUINCY, Mass.—Bridge playing and other amusements which keep women away from their homes, was given as the greatest reason for unhappy marriages, by Mr. and Mrs. James E. Scott, of Wellston, as they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary.

G. Wells story, "Island of Lost Souls," coming Sunday and Monday to the Cliftona Theatre. Charles Laughton, Richard Arlen and Lela Hyams have other featured roles in the picture.

CANADIAN COIN

OTTAWA, Canada.—The Royal Canadian Mint here issued 25,226,280 coins in 1932 with a currency value of $665,200.

ONE CENT FINE

BAY CITY, Mich.—Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle recently fined four prohibition violators one cent apiece. The men pleaded guilty to federal liquor offenses and under the existing law fines of some sort were mandatory.

Pistol Philosopher

Mrs. Beatrice La Falcia, 23-year-old wife of Newark, N. J., is shown in the police station after she had confessed to the slaying of Charles Kermis, a boarder at her home, because she said, she had alienated the affections of her husband, Victor La Falcia. Kermis, a student of ancient Greek philosophy, had monopolized all the attentions of the husband with his discussion on Socrates, according to the wife's story.

Miss Mettler had reserved a table in the Pomerine Hall Cafeteria. After lunch they visited several divisions of this hall. They watched the "gymnasium" lessons, and especially they were interested in the swimming lessons. Several went to the Animal Husbandry Building to see the different cuts of meat. Wonder how in the world this is. Well, he's—he's not! He's White.

HANSEL AND GRETEL IS BIG SUCCESS

The operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," given by the seventh grades under the supervision of Miss Johnda Tootle, at Circleville high school, Feb. 2 and 3, was a great success if it can be judged by the number in the audience.

Peter, a binder of brooms was played by David Jackson the first night and Bobby Frickardt the second. His wife, Gertrude, was portrayed by Mary Jane Schlar and Betty Lou Nickerson. The two children Hansel and Gretel were enacted by Betty Bowsher, Laddie Goeller and James Moffitt and Betty Weiler. The old witch was given an excellent interpretation by Louise Helwager and Mary Newmyer. The chorus of seventh grade pupils sang the songs accompanied by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke.

The scene opens in the humble home of Hansel and Gretel who are busy working. When their mother comes home she sends them to gather a basketful of strawberries for their supper. Toward dawn they lose their way home and are put to sleep by the sandmen. Arthur Barr, Early Garner, James Groce, Gerald Melvin, Marion Smith and Mark White. Angels portrayed by Adelaide and Helen Cupp, Daphne Elliott, Louise Goldsberry, Rebecca Hampp, Clara-belle Hoffman, Cleo Jewell, Marjorie Leach, Helen Paxson, Ruth Robinson, Martha Rudisill, Dorothy Walters, Thelma Welch and Dorothy Winfough descended from the sky to watch over them.

The children are awakened in the morning by the old cookie witch whose house appears in front of them and her witches enacted by Betty Betz, Virginia Brown, Laura Gene Cook, Emily Gunning, Betty Heeter, Louise Helwager, Mary Newmyer, Rachel Fickel and Jean Theobald. Hansel is put in a cage and Gretel works for the old witch. Finally the chance for freedom comes and they push the cookie witch into the stove and free the cookie children who are Edwin Black, Harriett Binkley, Grace Clark, Betty Colville, Gay Conrad, Lillie French, Adam Gardner, Franklin Gitt, Bernadine Haynes, John Holland, Junior Martin, Philip Moore, Mary McGinnis, Dorothy Newland, James Price, Billy Rader, Ralph Roby, Rosemary Schreiner, James Trimmer and Betty Woods.

In "The Show Off," Thespian comedy which is to be given Feb. 16 and 17, George Kelly displays human personality with a vividness and truthfulness that is complete. The entire scene is laid in the Philadelphia home of a family of average means.

Mr. Fisher, John Mason, 60 years of age, is a common laborer but through economizing he has enjoyed quite a comfortable life.

Mrs. Fisher, Charlotte Caskey, is a good wife and house-keeper but a terrible gossip. Clara, Dorothy Bartley, their eldest daughter is married to Frank Hyland, Howard Ater, who is a man of more than average means. Another daughter, Amy, Betty Pickens, is employed in a downtown office while Joe, the youngest brother, works in a factory and spends all his spare time and talents in a workshop hoping to become an inventor.

"Aubrey, clerk in a freight office is of the show-off type, he is continually coming to the Fisher home to see Amy, with whom he is madly in love.

TIGER ROARS

The third triplet-his life is an apology, signed (Rosemary Jackson).

Second case: "Eat yeast."

Chemistry class:
Teacher: "What is a diet to develop the cranium?"

LOBAGOLA WILL SPEAK IN CHAPEL

Bata Kinda Amgoza Ibn Lo Bagola, west African Bushman, will be the featured speaker at the assembly program Thursday.

This African in one of the strangest characters to ever come before the American public. He was born in the unexplored bush region of the French Sudan, and was brought up in the Judaist religion.

Straying from home in his youth, he and his companions made their way to the Gulf of Guinea. Here Lo Bagola was kidnapped and carried to Scotland. He was given refuge by a kindly Scotman who later educated him. After experiencing the white man's civilization he returned to his tribe.

The 40 years of his remarkable life have been spent in darkest Africa and the most civilized of present day countries. He has lived under conditions as sharply contrasted as the world affords. Although in his lectures he primarily tells of his own life and of his people, he nevertheless has some keenly pointed arrows to direct at the white man's civilization. Lo Bagola is a witty, fascinating speaker, who one instant has his listeners spellbound at some jungle adventure and then has them roaring with laughter over some burst of satire.

Lo Bagola has taught at various colleges and universities, and his book which is rapidly becoming a best seller, was serialized in Scribner's Magazine before publication in book form.

Students will be asked to make a contribution in order to cover the payment which has been guaranteed to secure Lo Bagola.

"LAME DUCK'S" SOLONS FAIL

Roosevelt and New Congress, Convening in Four Weeks, Face Work.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Four weeks from today the "new deal"—in the shape of a new President and a new Congress—takes over Washington.

It will have plenty to do, for present lame-duck session of the 72nd Congress appears headed for its constitutional grave with a record of non-accomplishment probably without parallel in the history of the country. The current session is more than living up to the predictions made for it that it would be the "do-nothingest" Congress ever convened.

Although in session for two months, and with a holiday recess cut down to almost nothing, but one piece of major legislation has been enacted at this session. This was the Philippine independence bill, vetoed by President Hoover and enacted over his disapproval.

As for the rest of the legislative program, it has become mired down in a morass of bickering, inaction, and procrastination. Not one of the great supply bills has been enacted, and today Senator James A. Watson, Republican leader of the Senate, asserted his belief that all of them could not be passed before March 4. There are only 23 working days left.

THOMAS TO TELL STORY TO JURORS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Possibility of an immediate grand jury investigation of charges of "undue familiarity," brought by three women against Warden Preston E. Thomas, of Ohio Penitentiary, was dispelled today by County Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins.

With the warden charging that the accusations made to Governor George White Thursday constituted a "frame-up" and the second attempt "of the same gang to get me," Prosecutor Hoskins declared he could not conduct a grand jury inquiry now due to pressure of three important trials.

"I'll tell my story to the grand jury," the warden said here on his return from Dalton, O., where he addressed a farmers' institute yesterday, "and I'll tell the real story wide open."

SENATE'S AIDE FACES CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—After one of the most dramatic scenes of its history, the senate today considered the advisability of ordering its suspended sergeant-at-arms, David S. Barry, prosecuted for alleged criminal libel, because he charged members of Congress had taken bribes for their votes on legislation.

Barry made the charges in a magazine article, published in the "New Outlook," of which Alfred E. Smith is editor. He was suspended by a viva voce vote, after the senate refused, 81-40, to order his immediate discharge. He has held the post for twelve years.

The senate judiciary committee, however, was instructed to study the case and recommend whether Barry should be cited to the U. S. District Attorneys here and in New York City for prosecution under the criminal libel law. The committee was ordered to report by 4 p. m. next Tuesday, February 7.
